

This story is brought to you by Ririro.com for free. Our mission is to give all children in the world free access to a variety of stories. The stories can be read, downloaded and printed online and cover a wide range of topics, including animals, fantasy, science, history, diverse cultures and much more.

Support our mission by sharing our website. We wish you a lot of fun reading!

Ririro

IMAGINATION OVER KNOWLEDGE

Ririro

The Spoiled Timmy and Wise Santa

Once upon a time, there was a boy named Timmy who was very spoiled. He always wanted the latest and greatest toys, and he never seemed to be satisfied with what he had. He was always asking for more, and his parents were tired of giving in to his demands.

On Christmas Eve, Santa Claus came to visit Timmy and his family. Timmy was very excited, and he rushed to the tree to see what Santa had brought him. But when he saw the gifts, he was disappointed. He didn't like the toys that Santa had given him, and he started to cry. Santa Claus was not happy to see Timmy crying. He knew that Timmy was a spoiled child, and he didn't like it when children behaved like that. So he decided to take Timmy with him when he was delivering gifts to poor families. Timmy was surprised when Santa asked him to come along, but he was curious and he agreed. He climbed into Santa's sleigh, and they set off into the night.

As they flew through the sky, Timmy saw all the children who were waiting for Santa. He saw how excited they were, and how happy they were to receive their gifts. He was starting to feel a little jealous, but then they arrived at their first stop.

They landed in a small village, and Santa and Timmy went to deliver gifts to a poor family. Timmy was amazed by the family's gratitude and joy. He had never seen anyone so happy to receive a toy, and he started to feel ashamed of his own behavior.

They continued to visit more families, and each time Timmy was more and more moved by their happiness and gratitude. He realized that he had been taking his own gifts for granted, and he felt guilty for not appreciating them.

When they returned home, Timmy was a changed boy. He was happy with the gifts that Santa had given him, and he was grateful for everything that he had. He even started giving some of his toys away to children who needed them more than he did.

From that day on, Timmy was a kind and caring child. He learned to appreciate what he had, and he learned to share with others. Santa was very pleased with Timmy's change of heart, and he knew that Timmy would grow up to be a wonderful person.